Leadership Series

With the implementation of the National Curriculum and the increasing focus on performance and accountability within schools and school leadership, we have more and more leadership teams approaching us to support them to develop vibrant and passionate learning environments amongst their staff. As such we can partner with schools to shift their underlying cultures such that the staff and habitual practices allow for a high performance school culture. The following introductory workshops are designed to enable senior and middle school leaders to explore some of the aspects that lead to generating an extraordinary staff culture.

Workshop Outline

Schools and teachers are increasingly being held accountable for their performance. Yet, despite the breadth of research, leadership teams struggle with the “what” and the “how” of creating a high performance school culture? It is not as difficult or as obvious as one thinks.

- In this 3 hour workshop participants will be led through a series of conversations and inquiries that will uncover the hidden elements of building an exceptional school culture.
- Based on research and practical experience this session will ignite thoughtful discussions and practical actions that school leaders and individuals in positions of leadership can begin to take.

About Dr Adrian Bertolini

Dr Adrian Bertolini is one of Australia's foremost thought leaders on practical and real education that empowers and develops resilient, independent learners. Whilst his journey began as an engineer and Senior Lecturer in Aerospace Engineering at RMIT University, Adrian has worked across Australia, with students and teachers in primary, secondary and tertiary environments, to create authentic learning structures and experiences.

Adrian is much sought after by schools and businesses for his simple and effective presentations that not only challenges people to think deeply but also provides listeners with the practical "how's" to move forward. He is constantly acknowledged for being an engaging, passionate and knowledgeable speaker and facilitator.
